

C.U.P.S.

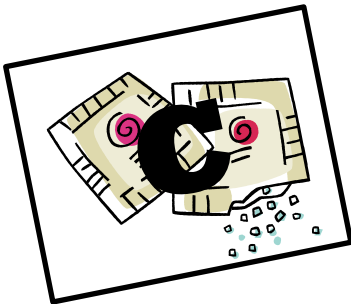

Editing Checklist

Students can use these checklists when editing their writing.

Post in the checklist in the schoolroom near the writing area or in the student's writing folder.

Use the “sugar packs” to pass out to students when they need a quick reminder of which editing focus they need to have.

For example, if a child says he is “done” with his writing, yet you notice lots of inappropriate uses of capital letters, hand him a C “sugar pack” as a reminder that he needs to edit more carefully for capital letters.

Copy onto cardstock and laminate for durability.
Color or black and white copy included in download.

*I used the C.U.P.S. editing checklist as a classroom teacher. This idea is not original to me., although I do not know the original source.
